DEATH.

At Shanghai, on the 2nd August, 1890, HENRY CLIFTON, eldest son of Henry Joseph and Bertha Limby, aged 5 years and 10 months.

The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, AUGUST 11TH, 1890.

IN expressing approval of Mr. CHADWICK's drainage scheme the Sanitary Board on Friday committed itself to the opinion that the Board ought to be the supervising authority for both the water supply and the public as well as private drainage of the Colony. The Board will no doubt be supported in this by the unofficial members of the Legislative Council, who will have an opportunity of expressing their views on the subject when the money for carrying out the drainage scheme is asked for. If there be any truth in the saying that it is always the the unexpected that happens it is possible that even the Government may be found favourably disposed towards such an obviously desirable extension of control by the ratepayers over their own affairs, and that we may perhaps be on the eve of the establishment of a municipality. We are inclined to think, however, that the attitude of the official majority towards this important question will be very much the same as that assumed by the Surveyor-General at Friday's meeting of the Sanitary Board. There is, says the hon. gentleman, a good deal in the letter which the Board decided to send to the Government with which neither he nor any Government official could agree. But why could no Government official agree with it? Is it because, like the silversmiths of Ephesus, they think their craft in danger? If so their alarm is need-less, for, generally speaking, it will be found that the substantial advantages enjoyed by officers under a municipality are as great, and often greater, than those enjoyed by officers under the supreme Government; Municipal Councils being as a rule composed of liberal minded men of business, who in the matter of salaries as well as of other things are less liable than a Government composed solely of officials to follow a penny-wise and pound-foolish policy. The opposition can hardly arise from any honest belief that popular control in municipal affairs is baneful, for that is a completely exploded creed. A Conservative Government has within the last few years established County Councils in England, and in India the Government has for many years past been trying to extend the principle of local self-government in such matters as sanitation. What is there then in the circumstances of Hongkong that makes it undesirable that the ratepayers should have a voice in determining the conditions of the water supply and the public sewerage of the Colony? Nothing. The only real obstacle is the vanity of the official class. Under a popular form of government the officials cannot affect to stand on a pinnacle apart from other men as they do under a bureaucratic form of government.

The demands made by the advocates for reform are very moderate. In a Crown Colony it is essential that the Crown should retain control of the legislature, although even there we think the elective element might be introduced somewhat more largely without prejudice to the principle. But what is now asked for is simply that the ratepayers should have the same control over their purely municipal affairs that is enjoyed by the rate-payers of the towns and villages of England and of India. In all matters affecting imperial interests we must perforce be content to be governed from Downing Street, but in such matters as water supply, drainage, roads, markets, cemeteries, and so forth, what possible reason can there be why we should still be held in leading strings? The Hon. S. BROWN on Friday said he had long foreseen the sweeping change involved in the separation of the Water and Drainage Department from the Public Works Department. "Sweeping" is an elastic term which may mean much or little according to the circumstances in which it is used, but if Mr. BROWN meant, as the context seems to indicate, that he looked upon the change as a breaking up of the old system and a preparing of the way for municipal government, we hope the hon. gentleman's estimate is correct. To take as an instance the Chinese cemeteries, their condition it must be admitted is far from satisfactory, and from what Mr. BROWN said on Friday it would seem that it has been no one's duty in particular to look after them. Such a state of things could not have prevailed under a Municipal Council.

From the time of the establishment of the Sanitary Board on its present basis it has been looked upon—not by the Government perhaps, but by others—as the nucleus and foundation of our future Municipal Council, and the consideration of the new drainage scheme will afford the unofficial members of Council an opportunity of insisting on the principle of an extension of municipal institutions which they can hardly fail to avail themselves of. When the Public Health Bill was under discussion in the Legislative Council the Hon. A. P. MACEWEN took exception to the abbreviation of the name given to the Sanitary Board. It was to have been the "Municipal Sanitary Board"—according to the recommendation of its precursor the old Sanitary Board—but the Government took fright at the prefix and struck it out. We hope that on the present occasion some success may attend the effort to secure something of the substance of what is implied in the word "Municipal" though the name be still denied. It is hardly to be expected, as already remarked, that the officials will give anything like a cordial support, but if the battle be well conducted they may be compelled to yield to reason. As a straw showing how the wind blows in the official mind we may take, not only the remarks of Mr. BROWN at Friday's meeting of the Sanitary Board, but also those of the Hon. W. M. GOODMAN and Hon. N. G. MITCHELL-INNES in connection with the Waterworks Bill recently passed by the Legislative Council. That measure, it will be remembered, was referred to a Special Committee, whose meetings were unfortunately held in private. When the Bill again came before the Council there was an extraordinary difference of opinion between the official and unofficial members as to the understanding arrived at by the Special Committee as to the future control of the Waterworks. The unofficial members were under the impression that it was agreed that it would be desirable, after the completion of the works, that the Sanitary Board should be consituted the Water Authority instead of the Resident Engineer, who was to occupy that position in the meantime. The official members, however, could not admit that any such understanding had been arrived at. The idea of anything in the nature of popular control was no doubt so foreign to their mind that it could not readily take root there. An opportunity now occurs of bringing the question to a direct issue in the Council itself. Even if the proposal that the Sanitary Board should be constituted the supervising authority over the water supply and over the public drainage be negatived, the mere discussion of the subject cannot fail to advance indirectly the cause of popular institutions in the Colony.

THE vote of thanks accorded by the Sanitary Board on Friday to the Hon. O. CHADWICK will be cordially acquiesced in by the public generally. A scheme of drainage having been proposed which met with some opposition and provoked counter-schemes, Mr. CHADWICK was sent out as an expert to examine and report on the conflicting proposals. His arrival was hailed with satisfaction, for he had already fulfilled a commission in the Colony and he commanded the public confidence. That confidence has been justified and increased by the very able manner in which he has done his work, as shown in the complete and lucid reports he has made. His conclusions have been accepted by all parties as correct, being supported by explanations and arguments that left no room for opposition, and he will leave us a happy and united family so far as the question of drainage is concerned. Mr. CHADWICK deserves the thanks of the community no less than of his colleagues on the Sanitary Board.

It is notified in Saturday's Gazette that the Queen's exequatur, empowering Mr. Georg Cosla to act as Consul for Germany at Hongkong, received Her Majesty's signature on the 21st June last.

An announcement in the Gazette of Saturday intimates that Her Majesty has not been advised to exercise her power of disallowance with respect to Ordinance No. 4 of 1890, to amend the Public Health Ordinance, 1887.

According to the table of meteorological observations, made at the Observatory, and published in the Gazette, the rainfall for July amounted to 22.40 inches, as compared with 4.57 inches in the same month last year.

We are requested to state that the meetings of the British Mercantile Marine Association will in future be held at the Marine Hotel, Praya, instead of in High Street. To-morrow evening the chair will be taken by Captain Ashton.

The steamer Petrel, a vessel of about 100 tons, built by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company for the Government of British North Borneo, has made a successful trial trip to Manao and back. She did the return passage on Friday in rather less than three hours, a most satisfactory result.

About 8 a.m. on Saturday morning, a painter employed in the Connaught Buildings fell down the lift from the top floor to the basement, a distance of sixty feet. The friends of the unfortunate man took him home and afterwards conveyed him to the Tung Wah Hospital, both his legs being broken.

The London New York Herald says that an intimation having reached the Admiralty that the Victor Emanuel, receiving ship on the Nine Station, is rotten and beyond repair, the Minotaur, formerly flagship of the Channel Squadron, will, after the manœuvres, be sent to China to supersede her.

A notification in the Government Gazette announces that His Excellency the Acting Governor has given his assent, in the name and on behalf of the Queen, to Ordinance 15 of 1890, to amend the Law relating to Fraudulent Marks on Merchandise, and Ordinance 16 of 1890, to provide for and regulate the supply of water in the Colony of Hongkong and for the maintenance and repair of the works in connection therewith.

Kisse and Olman's Circus has been playing to fair houses since the opening and on Saturday night the tent was crowded. The various items in the programme were successfully gone through and the juggling and performances of the trained dogs and monkeys were, to judge from the applause, exceptionally popular. One or two little hitches that occurred on the first night have disappeared now that the troupe has settled down and the performers, both human and animal, go through their feats in a manner worthy of all praise.

On Saturday morning, an old woman, with two grown-up daughters, was hanging about the Magistracy in a deep state of grief. We understand she was the wife of Li Pi Tsz, the notorious murderer and burglar, who had the previous day been rendited, and was trying to get some permission from the Magistrate, whereby she might go to Canton and have an interview with her husband, who, she said, had been handed over to the Chinese without any opportunity being afforded her to see him. We believe the Magistrate promised to use his influence to obtain an interview for her with the deported man in Canton.

The following names of the newly elected directors of the Po Leung Kuk, or Society for the Protection of Women and Children, have been submitted for the approval of the Acting Governor:—Leung Lung-cheung (President and Treasurer), of the Shai Pung Bank; Chung Chap hang (Vice-President), of the Cheung Lung, Mat Shop; Chan Hung-t'ai'ng, of the Kwan Cheung Tsai, Nam Pak Hong; Chan Leung-kung, of the Kwong Hip Wo, Californian Goods Firm; Mak Yin-lung, of the Ying Cheung Lung, Pig Line; Chan Hong, of the Fung On Cheung, Californian Goods Firm; U Wan-wo, of the Lun Cheung Tai, Tea Firm; Tsang Kwong-pui, of the Cheung Shing, Gold Shop.

The King of Siam, like the Emperor of Japan, has entirely given up the old oriental policy of secluding his person from the public gaze, and now goes as freely among his subjects as any European monarch. The Bangkok Times of the 30th ult. says that His Majesty "has again been out alone, driving to all parts of the city and suburbs. On Sunday afternoon he was seen on Windmill Road seated in a carriage like any other ordinary gentleman, and several persons out walking in that neighbourhood failed to recognise the Sovereign till after he had passed. A rumour among the Siamese has it that the King, accompanied by only one follower, was seen walking down the New Road yesterday afternoon."

There seems to be some belief—according to a Moulmein paper—that the Eastern Extension Telegraph Station at Elephant Point, Rangoon, will be removed to Amherst, at the mouth of the Salween River. Some idea that the sea is making encroachments near Elephant Point has apparently afforded grounds for the rumour. But this, we (Singapore Free Press) believe, is considered very unlikely. In fact we have it on good authority that part of a scheme for reductions in telegraph rates—which is being elaborated by the Australian Governments, the Indian Government, and the E.E.A. Telegraph Company—is that the Rangoon-Penang cable shall be abandoned and picked up, and that another additional cable shall be laid between Madras and Penang.

It is notified in the Government Gazette that pursuant to section 13 of Ordinance No. 1 of 1865 His Excellency the Acting Governor has been pleased to approve of the following special resolution passed at an extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the Richmond Terrace Estate and Building Company, Limited, held on the 15th July, 1890, and duly confirmed:—"That the name of the Company be changed to the Humphreys Estate and Finance Company, Limited." We understand that the capital of the Company has been increased from $100,000 to $1,000,000, the object of the increase being to take over the landed property of Mr. J. D. Humphreys, and also the finance business of the same gentleman, who will continue to act as General Manager as heretofore.

The Singapore Free Press of the 2nd inst. says:—"A telegram has been received of another accident while hunting in the Negri Sembilan. Our wire runs:—'On July 29th Captain S. Paterson was injured by an elephant while hunting in Gemenchi. Medical aid telephoned for.' Captain S. Paterson is the senior captain of the 91st Regt. (Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders) now stationed in Hongkong. He came down by the Clyde from Hongkong on July 2nd with Colonel Craster, R.A. From here they went to Pahang, but what route they took afterwards we are unable to state. Gemenchi, or Gomenchoh, is the most eastern of the Negri Sembilan States, and lies between the Rompin River, Malacca, Johore, and Muar. Dr. Hood of Malacca has gone up to attend the injured officer.

We are given to understand (says the Shanghai Mercury) that several members of the Imperial Maritime Customs service have been detached for duty in Chungking, from which we may assume that the port is at last to be declared open to Foreign trade, but, of course, it is impossible to say to what extent, until the convention on the subject has been made public. But we assume, if the statement generally current be true, that steamers will not be allowed to go to the new port, and the principal business of the Foreign Customs Officers will be the issuing of transit documents for goods going to points further west, and which will be brought up to Chungking in native-built craft, i.e., junks and boats. We understand that Mr. H. S. Hobson, who has been in charge, for some time, of the Ichang Customs, will be the first Commissioner at Chungking, his place at Ichang being taken by Mr. D'Arnoux, whose place at Hankow will be taken by Mr. R. J. Abbott, who has been appointed Deputy Acting Commissioner. We further hear that Mr. Edgar, Commissioner at Chefoo, is going home on leave, and that he will be superseded by Mr. Carl.

The Agent informs us that the Messageries Maritimes steamer Sydney with the next outward French mail, left Saigon at 8 p.m. on Saturday for this port.

What threatened to prove a great law suit has at last been satisfactorily settled. The steel cruiser Filipinas, built by the Hongkong & Whampoa Dock Company to the order of the Government of the Philippines, and which the latter refused to take delivery of, has been sold to the Siamese Government for $110,000, the sale being completed on Saturday. Mr. W. G. Brodie, Consul for Siam, who made the purchase on behalf of the Siamese Government, went over on Saturday afternoon to the Kowloon Docks with Mr. Gillies and took formal possession of the Filipinas, when the Siamese flag was hoisted on the vessel, and instructions given for her present name to be erased and that of Makut Rajakumar to be substituted.

The Ceylon Times says that among the passengers by the M. M. steamer Congo, which recently passed through Colombo bound for China, was the celebrated missionary, the Rev Father Auguste Desgodins, one of the few men who can boast of an acquaintance with the interior of Thibet. Father Desgodins not only penetrated into the Thibetan territory and was imprisoned for so doing, being at one time in danger of death for his temerity, but when he was released from prison he remained there for the long period of 37 years, during which time he made a number of maps of the country and wrote a ponderous volume on the subject of Thibet. With these he went home about ten months ago, and he has been made a great deal of in Europe, where he has related his experiences in the unexplored country at a number of public meetings. He is a man of middle age only, comparatively speaking, being about 57, and speaks highly of Thibet; while during the 37 years he was there he never felt ill even for an hour. He says he means to end his days there, and he is setting out now to compile a dictionary of the language for the benefit of his countrymen. This work will take him a number of years; but he hopes to succeed with it. He is taking out his own printing-press so as to print the various sheets as he compiles them.

The Hawk, a London society paper, has the following in a recent issue:—I hear that Sir John Walsham is giving up the Embassy in Peking, and that he will be succeeded by Sir Arthur Nicolson, who is at present Consul-General in Hungary. Sir John Walsham was first Secretary of Embassy in Paris, and when Sir Robert Hart refused to take the appointment in Peking it naturally fell to him. Unfortunately, however, he is not a strong man at the best of times, and his experience lying in the courts of Europe he has been a failure in China, where diplomatic methods are so different. The British in China will be glad of a change, for they want a good deal more vigour and push than Sir John is in the habit of putting into his work. When Lord Sackville made that little slip in America during the election by answering a bogus letter from California, an "old China hand" remarked to me, "Sir John Walsham would not have been caught that way, because he never answers any letters, however important they are." Sir Arthur Nicolson, on the other hand, is a man of great energy and capacity for work, and in spite of an extremely youthful appearance is a strong man in the diplomatic sense. It is no bar to his speedy promotion that he is married to Lord Dufferin's sister-in-law.

A correspondent writes to the Singapore Free Press:—The fact of elephants being found in British North Borneo has been, and is still often disputed even by persons who have been living there for some time. Some sportsmen, however, who have lately taken the trouble of travelling up the river and through the dense jungle there, have found that they are plentiful in particular parts of the country. Mr. Van Son, a Dutch planter from Java, well-known there for his very successful bantong and rhinoceros's coting, has just returned from Bornpo, where, besides some wild bulls (tambadour), he managed to big an elephant after following up a herd for several days. The animal was shot between the Segalind and Lokan Rivers, in which part he reports that elephants are plentiful. They are found as far as the Situcco River to the south of the Labak River; but they apparently have never been found to the north of the Labuk. The elephant that was shot was a young bull, 7ft. 3in. The tail was nearly 4ft. long, which is different to the Indian kind, whose tails are much shorter. It was killed with one shot from an 8-bore rifle. Elephants are supposed to have been imported into British North Borneo originally by the Sultan of Sooloo, who got some as a present, but finding them unmanageable, let them free on the mainland, where they have since been increasing in numbers.

Under the sensational and silly heading "Another British Island Surrendered," the St. James's Gosette of the 7th ult. says:—"It is not generally known that the Island of Labuan, which possesses a fine harbour and an abundance of excellent coal, ceased last year to be a Crown colony, in the ordinary sense of those words. It was very quietly handed over to the British North Borneo Company, the governor of which, Mr. Charles Vandeleur Creagh, is to-day Governor of the island. The company has taken over the payment of pensions to former colonial officials, and is now, in fact, the owner of the place, just as much as it is the owner of Sandakan or Mempakol. A question on the subject will probably be asked in the House of Commons, and, lest the official reply should come as too great a surprise to the general public, the majority of whom are, we believe, still in blissful ignorance of the whole transaction, we hasten to anticipate its tenor. Labuan has an area of 531 square miles, a population of 6,000, only a score or two of whom are Europeans, and an annual import and export trade valued at about £165,000. Agriculturally, commercially, geologically, and strategically, it is a most valuable island; and although we are able to foretell what must be the nature of an official answer to the suggestion 'Has Labuan been handed over?' we regret that we can suggest no reply to the naturally resultant inquiry, 'Why has it been handed over?' There may have been most excellent reasons for the transaction. If so, everybody will be glad to hear them." The St James's Gazette ought to be better informed. The island has not been surrendered to any one, but its administration has been entrusted to the British North Borneo Company—which is itself under British Protectorate—in order to save expense, the revenue latterly having declined to a point below the expenditure. The area of Labuan is 30.23 square miles, not 531 square miles as stated by our London contemporary.

An extraordinary general meeting of the Straits Insurance Company, Limited, was held at Singapore on the 2nd inst., for the purpose of altering certain of the articles of association. The Chairman in the course of his speech said:—"When the Company was first started some seven years ago, it was anticipated with some degree of confidence that an annual dividend of at least ten per cent. could without difficulty be paid to shareholders out of the profits and yet leave a substantial amount, after payment of a bonus to our customers, to be placed to the reserve fund. Two years after the Company commenced operations, what is commonly called the 'War of Rates' sprang up and since then competition has become so very keen and rates of premium have now reached such a point, that your directors think it is impossible to continue paying a minimum dividend of 10 per cent and still make those important additions to the Reserve fund which they consider it is essential to make for the future of the Company. The building up of a substantial Reserve fund is in the opinion of your Board a matter of vital importance, not only to the prosperity of the Company and in the interests of the shareholders themselves, but as a guarantee to the customers that their policies are as secure as those of other competing offices. It may be taken for granted that the insuring public are very much alive to the manner in which the profits are distributed and to the nature and extent of the Company's assets. It is only by adhering to a fixed principle, and that principle the annual appropriation of a substantial amount to the Reserve Fund at all costs, that prosperity can be obtained. I need only point out to you the financial position of some of the large English and China Offices, who thanks to their large Reserve funds are now in a position of being to a great extent independent of the results of underwriting, and who even in exceptionally disastrous years are able to pay their shareholders handsome dividends. The object therefore of the alterations in the Articles dealing with any surplus is, that discretionary powers should be given to the meeting to declare a dividend and vote a bonus or a sum to Reserve, without giving one or the other any fixed preference." The resolutions submitted to the meeting were carried.

A couple of coolies in charge of a building contractor's cart were proceeding down Garden Road on Saturday morning when they lost control over the vehicle. In its course it knocked down a Chinaman and a child, but fortunately they were not seriously hurt, although the chest and arm of the former were cut by the wheel passing over him.

At the Magistracy on Saturday morning, before Hon. H.E. Wodehouse, an inquiry was held into the circumstances attending the death of a female child, six years of age, who met her death by the front wall of a go down falling upon her about the beginning of August. After hearing the evidence his Worship returned a verdict "That the deceased met her death by the collapse of the front wall of the godown." Another inquiry was held into the cause of the death of James Mahoney, Dockyard policeman, who met his death whilst bathing at Kowloon on the 2nd inst. From the evidence of a Dockyard sergeant, it appeared the deceased suffered from heart disease, and medical evidence was given to the same effect. His Worship returned a verdict in accordance with the medical testimony.

With reference to the bathing misadventure near Peking related by the Daily News, the Mercury gives the following fuller details:—From Peking we learn that early last month the two sons of Sir John Walsham, the son of Col. Denby, with Mr. Tratman, of the British Consular Service, while enjoying a swim in one of the numerous streams in the Western Hills, were overtaken by a sudden storm in which the rain descended in a veritable deluge. Before they could regain the bank, their clothes were washed away and carried down the stream never to be seen or worn by their lawful owners again. A dog belonging to one of the party was also carried away and drowned before his master's eyes. The weather was, fortunately, warm, but it was nevertheless a highly uncomfortable, not to say shocking predicament in which the four unfortunate bathers found themselves, without clothes, shoes, and not even a smoke, away upon the side of the mountain, with a long distance between them and their homes, which they clearly could not face as they were. No budding diplomats surely ever found themselves in such a sorry plight, and almost before they knew it, night was upon them. Like the primitive examples of our progenitors they were forced by the cold wind that sprang up at night to take refuge in caves and under projecting rocks, where they passed about the most wretched night of their lives. Meanwhile the sojourners at the Temples were in a terrible fright about the non-appearance of the four young gentlemen, and search parties were sent out into the storm, but they could find no trace of the wayfarers, who in the dim uncertain light of the morning got back to their homes footsore, weary and half-frozen from their unwonted exposure. One of them says all that he had to be supported by a Chinaman who had met the wanderers and was nearly terrified out of his wits at first by their appearance, and probably took them for an entirely new tribe of western barbarians, whose only garb was what nature gave them. The absence of tomahawks and such uncomfortable-looking implements, however, reassured him and he went to their assistance and helped the feeblest of the party home. We trust that the misadventure will have no bad results upon the health of the members of the unfortunate swimming party.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.

[SUPPLIED TO THE "DAILY PRESS."]

LONDON, 7th August.

THE PREMIER ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

At the Mansion House, Lord Salisbury stated that the situation everywhere was pacific, and that the African Agreement had removed all cause of quarrel. With regard to Egypt, he said the time had not arrived to withdraw the British forces as Egypt depends greatly upon other nations who are able to advance and thus retard their departure.

[The latter sentence is one of those in which we are now accustomed to see in Reuter's messages as transcribed here.—ED. D. P.].

THE FATAL ACCIDENT TO AN INDIAN CONSTABLE.

At the Magistracy on Saturday morning, before Hon H. E. Wodehouse, the adjourned inquiry was resumed into the circumstances attending the death of P. Jowan Singh, who was killed on the 24th July by the explosion of a shell at Stonecutters' Island.

Thomas T. Ridell, Master Gunner, R.A., said—I was on Stonecutters' Island on the 6th inst. I was not there on the 24th ult. As Master Gunner I am in charge of all the ammunition belonging to the Royal Artillery. I am in charge of the Hotchkiss shell store. The shells are kept in boxes of eleven each. I have counted all the shells in the boxes we have in the store and compared the stock with the books. There is not one missing according to the number received and expended. I see the fragments of the shell produced. They appear to me to be the remains of a 6 lb. Hotchkiss shell. I should say it is an old shell. I have no idea how it came to be in possession of the Sikh constable. It cannot be one of our stores missing. It may be one of our shells picked up after missing fire. I have seen no practice since I arrived here, on the 25th June. I have heard of this accident. My own opinion is that it is a fired shell which had been picked up or dragged ashore by a fishing net. It is almost impossible for it to have ricochetted on to the island from so great a distance. I think the former more probable.

Inspector Mathieson said—I am in charge of this case. I have made enquiries of the Naval authorities if they have used these shells. I have been informed that they never fired any 6 lb. Hotchkiss shells there. They say they go outside when they use such shells. Very few of the ships have them. I am of opinion that the shell was picked up by some fisherman and then taken ashore on Stonecutters' Island and had probably been used to secure his net whilst drying or mending and had so been left there. I do not think they would sell such a thing as old iron.

His Worship said—I don't think it necessary to pursue this inquiry further. One or two explanations have been given as to how the shell came into the possession of the constable and none of them is entirely satisfactory; but I think the evidence is generally pretty conclusive that at any rate it was not the result of any carelessness on the part of the Royal Artillery, whose stores appear to be correct. The shell must therefore have landed on the island in some such way as has been suggested, either by ricochetting or by being picked up near it. What I find is, "That death was the result of the accidental explosion of a 6 lb. Hotchkiss shell, but as to the possession of it by the deceased there is no satisfactory evidence forthcoming."

POLICE COURT.

9th August.

BEFORE MR. H. ROBINSON.

CUTTING AND WOUNDING.

Ancelino Pintos was charged with cutting and wounding P. A. Castelbo on the 8th inst.

The defendant denied the charge. He said they were playing and afterwards had a row, and having a knife in his hand he accidentally cut the complainant.

The complainant did not appear, being in hospital.

His Worship remanded the case till to-day at 11 a.m., allowing bail in one surety of $75.

THE LARCENY FROM MESSRS LANE, CRAWFORD & Co's.

Ho Alum, Ng A Un, and Chan Tsz Lau, were charged, the first with stealing, the second with receiving, and the third with being in possession of, a quantity of miscellaneous goods, value $90, the property of Messrs. Lane, Crawford & Co., on the 28th and 31st July.

Mr. Bowles, of Messrs. Wotton and Deacon's, appeared for the prosecution, Mr. Rees on behalf of one of the defendants, and Mr. Moseop on behalf of another defendant.

His Worship further remanded the case till Wednesday the 13th inst., bail as before.

TRANSHIPPING DANGEROUS GOODS.

Hermann Binge, master of the German steamer Johann, was charged with transhipping dangerous goods, viz. kerosine, during prohibited hours on the 7th instant.

A. Niven, P.C. 96, said about 1.20 a.m. on the 7th instant he saw the steamer Johann at anchor with two cargo boats alongside loading kerosine. Each boat had a number of cases on board loading into the steamer. The captain had no written permission and explained that he thought he was outside the limits of the harbour altogether.

The defendant said he did not know that he was within the limits. He steamed to get outside a line between Green Island and Stonecutters'. The night was dark and he might have been half a cable within the limit. He admitted transhipping at night.

His Worship discharged the defendant with a caution on his promising that no breach of the regulations should again occur.

CARRYING DANGEROUS WEAPONS.

Fong Kui was charged with being in possession of a deadly weapon, viz., a loaded revolver, at Mong-kok-sui, on the 8th inst.

The defendant admitted the charge.

His Worship imposed a fine of $100 or five months' imprisonment with hard labour.

THE BLASTING IN QUEEN'S ROAD.

Chu Shiu Lin, contractor, Queen's Road West, was charged with not taking sufficient precautions to effectively prevent any fragments of stone from being projected into the air whilst blasting in Queen's Road Central on the 2nd inst.

J. Witchell, P.S. 12, said that at noon on the 2nd inst. he saw the defendant blasting in front of the Commissariat Buildings, Queen's Road. One of the charges which exploded blew a quantity of stone and débris on to the building and also on top of a cook-house in the Naval Yard. He saw that himself.

J. C. Watson, superintendant clerk, Army Pay Department, said at noon on the 2nd inst. he heard an explosion and saw a quantity of débris and stones about the size of his fist thrown on to the cook-house of the Naval Yard, which was about twenty yards away, and also another stone which had gone through the bamboo shade of their office window.

J. Witchell, recalled, said the explosion blew the timber covering clean away. He thought it was due to excessive charges of dynamite.

The defendant said the explosion did not blow off the timber covering, but he admitted a quantity of débris went through the seams.

Inspector Swanston said he had been instructed by the Captain Superintendent of Police to press for the full penalty as the defendant had been already cautioned several times but took no notice. He had also been previously convicted for the same offence.

His Worship—Previously convicted, you say?

Inspector Swanston—Yes, your Worship, and fined $10 and he had to pay $5 amends to the Naval Yard mess.

The defendant admitted that.

His Worship, addressing the defendant, said if these two or three pieces of stone had fallen upon the heads of people instead of upon the cook-house of the Naval Yard he would have been fined, no doubt, to pay considerably more than what he (his Worship) should fine him. He would impose a fine of $50.

The same defendant was again charged for a similar offence on the 6th inst. at the same place, when one of the charges exploded and projected a stone, weighing about 30 lbs., on to the roof of the office of the Army Pay Department—a distance of 51 ft., besides a quantity of débris.

J. Witchell said he visited the scene of the explosion, and found that the explosion had blown right through the timber. He was called into the Army Pay Department office by Major Dompster to see the damage caused by the explosion and saw the large stone produced, which had been blown a distance of about 53 yds.

J. C. Watson and Corporal Morris corroborated.

J. Witchell said that since the 6th inst. the defendant had been blasting, but no more stones had been flying about.

His Worship imposed a fine of $50.

THE CHARGE AGAINST A STEWARD AND CHINESE SERVANTS OF THE STEAMER "TAIYUAN."

Lo Akit, No. 1 boy, four Chinese servants, Charles N. Betts, second steward, all late of the British steamer Taiyuan, and a Chinese boarding house keeper were charged with aiding and abetting eight Chinamen in obtaining a passage from Hongkong to Sydney, on board the steamer Taiyuan, without the consent of the owner, charterer, or master of the ship, and conspiring to commit a breach of the Queensland Chinese Immigration Restriction Act, 1888, and the New South Wales Chinese Restriction and Regulation Act, 1888, whereby the said ship might have been forfeited by law and whereby the said owners might have suffered great loss and damage.

Mr. Hastings, of Messrs. Wotton and Deacon's, appeared for the prosecution; Mr. Boydk appeared on behalf of Lo Akit, No. 1 boy; and the rest of the defendants were undefended.

Mr. Boydk said he appeared on behalf of Lo Akit.

His Worship—But Lo Akit has pleaded guilty, Mr. Boydk—Yes, but he wishes to withdraw that plea.

Mr. Hastings—I am quite willing to allow that, your Worship.

His Worship—Very well.

The whole of the defendants then pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Hastings, after describing the different positions of the defendants, said they were charged with conspiring together to injure and defraud the China Navigation Co., the owners of the Taiyuan, by secreting certain Chinese on the vessel on a voyage from Hongkong to Sydney without the consent of the owners or master and without paying any passage money. On a second count they were charged with conspiring together to effect an unlawful purpose, namely, to enable certain Chinese to secrete themselves and go to sea on board the steamer without the consent of any person entitled to give consent. The defendant Lo Akit was the central figure of the conspiracy. He made an arrangement with the seventh defendant, the boarding house keeper, in the first place and then with the second steward of the Taiyuan. The steamer left Hongkong for Sydney on 12th June last. As His Worship was no doubt aware, there had been passed both in New South Wales and Queensland in 1888, very stringent laws regulating and restricting the influx of Chinese, and every Chinese immigrant was subject to a poll-tax of $100. Any master of a ship failing to declare the number of Chinese on his vessel, including stowaways and crew, was liable to a penalty of £500 for every Chinese found on board not having been so declared, and on non-payment of that heavy fine the vessel was liable to forfeiture, and it was further provided that the fine mentioned could not be reduced even by the Justices. This being the case there was evidently a very great inducement to smuggle Chinese into Australia, who would thus escape the payment both of the passage money and the poll-tax. Before the Taiyuan left Hongkong on 12th June, Lo Akit, the head boy, made an agreement with certain Chinese shops to secrete certain Chinese passengers on board the steamer, but he found himself unable to effect this purpose without the co-operation of one of the Europeans on board, and therefore he made an arrangement with the second steward to assist him, agreeing to pay him a certain amount for his services, which was actually paid. The passengers were put on board and secreted in the rice room, which could only be reached by passing through the boy's quarters. Before leaving this Colony the ship was very carefully searched, and certain Chinese were found who were promptly put on shore, but the eight stowaways in quarantine were not found. That was to be accounted for because the second steward was the man sent to search the after portion of the ship. The stowaways were kept in the rice room all the way. On arrival at Moreton Bay the ship was searched and also at Watson's Bay in Queensland, but no stowaways were found. But at Sydney the Customs officers searched the ship and found these eight stowaways in the refrigerator, and what had been done was they had been kept there and the door locked upon them. Of course the authorities down there charged the Captain with making a wrong statement in regard to the number of Chinese on board and he had great difficulty in showing that they were not there with his connivance. The matter had not yet been settled. His Worship would therefore see that the owners had suffered great injury to their reputation and incurred the risk of heavy loss. Although the English law provided for the punishment of persons aiding and abetting stowaways, that provision had been by a curious slip omitted from the local Ordinance, and therefore the prosecution had been obliged to rely on the common law charge of conspiracy. He proposed to withdraw the charge against the first defendant, Lo Akit and put him in the witness box.

His Worship—That would be evidence of an accomplice.

Mr. Hastings—Yes, that is so.

His Worship—Have your any other witnesses?

Mr. Hastings—No, unfortunately we have not.

His Worship—Very well.

Mr. Rodyk—Then Lo Akit is discharged unconditionally, I understand?

His Worship—Yes, of course. His evidence you say is indisp

SIR JOHN POPE HENNESSY ON THE AFRICAN QUESTION.

Under the heading of "The African Bubble" Sir John Pope Hennessy writes as follows in the Nineteenth Century for July:—

In April, 1872, when the convention by which the King of Holland transferred to England all the Dutch settlements in West Africa was carried out, the last Dutch Governor said to me before he embarked at Elmina:—"We have been here here 235 years, and have made no impression on the negro race. The administration of Negro Land by Europeans is an impossibility. A time will come when the British Government will make a similar confession."

In taking over the Dutch settlements I had to determine in concert with the Dutch Governor the fate of an immense collection of archives, from 1492 to 1637 of the Portuguese time, and from 1637 to 1872 of Dutch rule. Nearly the whole of the vast mass of despatches and reports were handed back at once to the Dutch and conveyed to the Hague. It is a valuable record, testifying to the truth of what the Governor said.

As regards Portugal and Holland, it shows how the early explorers were soon followed by private traders, and then by trading companies with state charters. The geographical and commercial enterprises of those distant days penetrated from the West Coast into the interior. The elevated table lands and late regions were explored and annexed. European Governments in those times seemed bent on forming great dominions in Africa, and mutual agreements were settled as to their respective territories and "spheres of influence."

The regular succession of more than a hundred European Governors spent millions of money in vain. The wealthy and intolitical colonial companies of Holland were unable to develop any commercial resources whatever in the centres of Africa. The very same Dutchmen whose trading enterprises succeeded in the East Indies and who created tropical colonies in the Indian Archipelago that are to this day amongst the most flourishing in the world failed to do any good in Negro Land.

The population of Negro Land, which was roughly computed to be fifty millions in the last century, is now estimated at about one hundred and thirty millions. The climatic difficulties to European Administration arising from the existence of a powerful indigenous race have increased since the great experiment of the Dutch.

Before rushing as they have done into Africa, the King of the Belgians and the Emperor of Germany might perhaps have got some useful lessons at the Hague. Our Government, however, need not go so far. Downing Street has its own collection of African enthusiasm and failures.

About the same time that the adventurers and undertakers were sent to Ireland to divide the lands of the Desmonds and to destroy the ancient tenures of the native occupiers, Queen Elizabeth chartered a trading company to Africa, not only to take the lands of the negroes but to take the negroes themselves. Whilst the agrarian question at this moment in Ireland is not entirely unconnected with what was then done, not a trace exists in Africa of the operations of Queen Elizabeth's company. And so with the long succession of English companies that followed, including the notable enterprise of 1662, with a Royal Duke as chairman, "The Company of Royal Adventurers of England trading to Africa." When this loudly trumpeted company collapsed, another was soon started, "The Royal African Company of England." That also failed, but in some years the failure was forgotten, and in 1772, "The African Company of Merchants" was formed. Though supported by an Act of Parliament and an Imperial subsidy this company also broke down. And so on to our own day, the same story repeated over, and over again: treaties made with native chiefs by explorers and traders; Royal Charters granted, the Home Government compelled by slave trade troubles or petty wars to intervene and assume the administration; and when this administration got into trouble, a Parliamentary inquiry, recommending that we should give up the idea of Governing Negro Land.

The House of Commons Committee of 1865, after hearing reports from Downing Street—explorers like Dr. Livingstone and Captain Burton, missionaries, merchants, and ex-Governors—made the following recommendation:—"That all further extension of territory, or assumption of government, or new treaties offering any protection to native tribes would be inexpedient and that the object of the policy should be to encourage in the natives the exercise of those qualities which may render it possible for us more and more to transfer to them the administration of all the governments with a view to our ultimate withdrawal from all except probably Sierra Leone."

In the face of that report, and of the evidence of Dr. Livingstone against managing Central Africa by private companies, we now see great companies chartered to govern millions of negroes, to acquire territory, and to wage war upon the tribes that may object to European rule.

In addition to this vicarious commercial administration, we see Germany and England amicably dividing what does not belong to them, and consolidating or attempting to consolidate, colonial rule in Africa.

The Daily News correspondent in Paris has recently recorded the judgment of M. Pelletan—an eminent authority on African questions—to the effect that he did not envy any power the possession of Equatorial Africa. He was satisfied that Africa could never be colonised except in the north and south. M. Pelletan did not deal in detail with the absurd notion that the centre of Africa is a field for European emigrants. It is enough to remember that European emigrants succeed only where the native races disappear before them. That is not likely to occur in Africa. In his own land the negro is, in certain important and vital respects, the superior of the European. Even removed from his native soil the negro cannot be crushed out by the white man. In the beginning of this century, the negroes in the United States numbered 600,000. Without any further importations from Africa they have multiplied considerably in less than a century. The last census shows that they are 7,000,000, and that they have increased more rapidly than the native whites of the United States.

Is Africa then of no real value to England? To this it may be replied that the value of an article sometimes depends more on what other people think of it than on its own intrinsic merits. Two great powers have African ambitions. The well-informed M. Pelletan is an exception in the French Chamber, where the majority would heartily welcome any addition to the French settlements in Africa. In Germany a similar sentiment is well nigh universal. They may not be able to digest what they are eating, but the appetite is still there.

That being so, is it not possible to utilise some of our useless settlements and dangerous "spheres of influence" in Africa? Are there no colonial questions now agitating Downing Street that might be settled in that way? No doubt the French would allow us, for a consideration, to repair our imperfect sovereignty in Newfoundland; and, for a consideration, they would doubtless restore some islands they hold in the Australian Archipelago. While retaining South Africa and (for certain special reasons) the colony of Sierra Leone, what is there in the Dark Continent that we ought not to give up to restore the loyalty of Newfoundland and to preserve the goodwill of Australia. An old treaty with France embitters our colonists in the North Atlantic, and a weak convention or understanding with Germany respecting New Guinea has inflicted injury on Australia.

In April, 1883, an Australian Government declared the island of New Guinea to be a part of Australia. It was so in fact under a proclamation of one of the first Governors—a proclamation that George the Third ratified, and which received international sanction.

Apparently ignorant of this, and of the Australian interests at stake, the Imperial Government vetoed the action of Queensland. The other Australian Governments supported Queensland; but, in the midst of our despatch writing, Prince Bismarck sent down a man-of-war and seized on the northern half of New Guinea, that is, on the half with the best harbour,—a harbour where a hostile squadron could be coaled and refitted.

What has been the result of our allowing two first-class European Powers into the islands of Australia. The inconvenience arising from the French convict settlement was one result, but a far more serious one is involved in the deplorable necessity forced on Australia of organising military and naval defences on a costly scale, on a scale—looking to the population of Australia—commensurate with the bloated armaments of Europe. It is from this point of view that Negro Land may be of value to England. As long as the land hunger of Germany and France can be gratified by devouring Africa, Her Majesty's Government have perhaps an opportunity of setting themselves right with Newfoundland and paying a debt they owe to Australia.

MELBOURNE, 25th July.

All the Australian Colonies have now appointed delegates to take part in the approaching Australian Federation Convention.

RUSSIA, TURKEY, AND BULGARIA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, 21st July.

Yielding to pressure from Bulgaria the Government of the Sultan has issued a firman authorising the nomination of three Bulgarian Bishops in Macedonia. This has given great umbrage to Russia, Servia and Greece.

LONDON, 25th July.

The Times of to-day publishes a telegram from Constantinople stating that M. Nelidoff, Russian Ambassador to the Porte, has presented a note complaining of the concessions made by the Porte to Bulgaria, which the note states are unfriendly acts towards Russia in view of Bulgarian hostility towards Russia, and which the note adds, might lead to serious results. The telegram adds that the Porte is greatly concerned regarding the Russian note.

THE GRENADIERS.

LONDON, 25th July.

A large meeting took place in Hyde Park last evening for the purpose of protesting against the severe sentences passed on the Grenadier Guardsmen, and a petition to the Queen praying for their release was drafted.

THREATENED STRIKE OF DOCKMEN.

LONDON, 25th July.

The dock labourers at Cardiff have signified their intention of striking to-morrow. They demand increased pay and shorter hours. The directors are, however, unyielding. Mr. Tillett has arrived in Cardiff to advocate the cause of the dockers. Paralysis of the Bristol Channel trade is threatened by the strike movement.

THE CESSION OF HELIGOLAND.

LONDON, July 25th.

Mr. Gladstone, in his speech in the House of Commons last night, condemned the precedent of asking the sanction of Parliament before concluding treaties for the cession of territory, on the ground that it is an overriding of the prerogative of the Crown.

This expression of opinion by Mr. Gladstone caused general surprise amongst his followers, and was received in silence.

The Conservative papers this morning, in discussing the matter, ridicule Mr. Gladstone's scruples.

LONDON, 26th July.

In the House of Commons last night, the Bill for the Cession of Heligoland was read a second time, after the motion brought forward by Mr. Phillips was rejected by 209 votes against 61. Only Irish members and a few Radicals voted with the minority. Most of the Gladstonian Liberal members abstained from voting at all.

Sir Richard Temple, in a speech made in the House of Commons last night, in support of the Bill for the cession of Heligoland, dwelt upon the extreme importance to the British of Zanzibar, which owed its prosperity to the Natives of India who had settled there. The British protectorate over Zanzibar was, he said, alone worth a thousand Heligolands.

THE FULMONY CASE.

CALCUTTA, 27th July.

The trial of Durga Churn Maiti for the murder of his child wife, Fulmony, has ended in a unanimous verdict of causing hurt by a rash and negligent act, and the prisoner was sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment.

[Death was caused by hemorrhage resulting from coition.]

RUMOURED DEATH OF THE CHINESE AMBAN.

CALCUTTA, 27th July.

The Government has no information of the rumoured death of the Amban, and the story is generally discredited.

SIR E. BRADFORD'S SUCCESSOR.

LONDON, 27th July.

It is again stated that General Black succeeds to the post lately held at the India Office by Sir Edward Bradford.

THE ZANZIBAR PROTECTORATE.

LONDON, 27th July.

The negotiations between Great Britain and France relative to Zanzibar have been virtually concluded with the exception of details which the British delegates, who are going to Paris, will settle.

Great Britain has agreed to the French protectorate over Madagascar and to the extension of the sphere of French influence up to Lake Tchad.

THREATENED STRIKE OF SAILORS.

LONDON, 21th July.

A manifesto has been issued at Sunderland by the National Seamen's Union to the shipowners, stating that the British seamen will strike on Saturday until the Danish seamen, who are on strike, obtain wages equal to those paid to British seamen. A conference of the seamen and shipowners of Sunderland will take place on Saturday.

LONDON, 27th July.

The seamen's strike at Sunderland has proved abortive, the Danish seamen denying that there is any necessity for it.

SENTENCE OF THE BANK ROBBER.

CALCUTTA, 24th July.

Elias Solomon was to-day found guilty at the Criminal Sessions of forgery and cheating in the Hongkong, Shanghai Bank case, and was sentenced to eight years' rigorous imprisonment.

CALCUTTA, 27th July.

The Bank of Bengal has decided not to prosecute Elias H. Solomon. Mr. Pugh stated in Court that, having regard to the sentence passed upon the prisoner for his fraud in connection with Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, it was not necessary in the interests of justice to proceed with the charge of defrauding the Bank of Bengal.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

This Company is formed for the purpose of acquiring and carrying on the well-known and lucrative Hotel business conducted for many years by the late Mrs. GREEN, and for the past nine years by Mr. W. G. JOHNSON, who is now desirous of relinquishing active participation in the management, but shows his entire confidence in the prosperity of the Company by becoming a large holder of Shares.

The property purchased by the Company is as follows:—

A piece of land having a frontage to the Bund of 246 ft. 5 in. and held in perpetuity from the Japanese Government at an almost nominal rental. This ground was the first selection made when the port was opened to foreign trade, and carries with it the extremely valuable privilege to use the beach in front of the land for its entire length down to low water mark, an advantage not enjoyed by any lot in the Foreign Concession, and which effectually secures to the property an uninterrupted view of the Harbour.

The main building of the Hotel, situated at the corner of Division Street and the Bund, and in close proximity to the Hatoba, the usual landing place for passengers from vessels visiting Kobe. The building is substantially constructed of stone and brick, and has recently been repaired and painted, and contains spacious Bar and Billiard Rooms, large Dining Room, Bed Room, Waiting Room, and extensive accommodation for baths, &c.—in short, all the requisites of a first-class Hotel.

Two houses (two stories) adjoining and connected with the Hotel, each containing six rooms.

One house (two stories) separated from the Hotel by a mud godown now on the property, required by the Company, and containing seven rooms.

Brick and mud Godowns, two two-storied servants' quarters, and ample store-room and culinary accommodation, hot-water pressure boiler, &c., &c.

In the rear, and separated from the main buildings by a street or lane, are two plots of ground, one containing 300 tsubo more or less, and the other 132.83 tsubo more or less. These properties are held for terms of years expiring respectively on the 18th September, 1909, and the 1st July, 1911, at the annual rentals of 180 yen and 77 yen. These rentals are payable five years in advance, and the Company will be entitled to the benefit of any moneys so paid.

On these properties are erected:—

One House (three stories), containing twelve rooms, with bath-rooms and other conveniences.

One House (two stories), containing eight rooms and similar accommodation.

One House (two stories), containing four rooms, used for gentlemen's valets.

One House (two stories), containing twelve rooms, used for servants' quarters.

One House containing four rooms and similarly utilized.

The newly erected and commodious stables, containing accommodation for five ponies.

In the stables are five excellent China Ponies, with new saddles, bridles, and all other requisites for carrying on a livery stable.

In addition to the foregoing the Company will acquire without further payment the entire stock in trade, Wines, Liquors, and Furniture, and reserve stocks of Wines, Liquors, Bed and Table Linen, China, Glass Ware, Cutlery, &c., &c., belonging to the Hotel, a large supply of which has recently been procured. There is also connected with the business a powerful Steam Launch, built during the present year especially for the requirements of the Hotel at a cost of over $3,500. This launch is well adapted for picnic parties, as it contains a lofty cabin capable of seating 20 persons comfortably, and is designed so as to withstand stormy weather. The launch is also included in the purchase.

The Hotel contains for the accommodation of guests 50 double beds and 9 single beds. All the rooms are lighted by electricity, and the main building is fitted for gas in addition.

The Company will take over the business as "a going concern" on the 1st October, 1890, and will thenceforth be entitled to the profits and be responsible for the expenses. Competent observers consider that as a resort for tourists and residents of India and China compelled to seek relief from the trying climates of those countries, the exceptional inducements offered by Japan have as yet received but little comparative attention. The stream of visitors in search of pleasure or health must to a great extent pass through Kobe, the shipping and trade of the port is rapidly and steadily increasing, and all these conditions will combine to influence the Company's business in a satisfactory manner. The vendor's estimate of the profits of the business as carried on by him shows, when the saving in rent which will be effected by the Company is considered, a return upon the share capital of fifteen per cent. This amount the Directors feel confident will be exceeded by the increased prosperity of the Hotel under the more favourable conditions for successful working enjoyed by the Company, and the greater accommodation afforded by the additional buildings which the requirements of the business render desirable.

The Company will commence operations unhampered by any contracts or engagements of any description whatever. They take over a well-established and prosperous business, and one which must command the attention of the public as a sound and profitable investment.

Applications for Shares should be made on Forms to be obtained from the HONGKONG AND SHANGHAI BANKING CORPORATION, and forwarded to the Company's Bankers, together with the amount of deposit, with, if elsewhere than Kobe, exchange to that port added.

Forms of Applications and Prospectuses giving full particulars can be obtained from the Company's Bankers in Yokohama, Kobe, Nagasaki, Hongkong, and Shanghai.

The Subscription List will close for Yokohama Kobe, and Nagasaki on the 4th August, 1890, and for Hongkong & Shanghai on the 13th Aug.
